

Association of Native Child and Family Services
Agencies of Ontario

ANCFSAO

New Information Released!!

INDIGENOUS CHILD AND FAMILY WELL-BEING CONFERENCE

November 19-21 2019

Our Children Our Bundle - Highlight of Workshops and Presentations

The 2019 Well-being conference is excited to announce the following highlighted presentations and workshops being offered:

- ◆ Neonatal Services - how to support high risk parents with independent living, education, harm reduction strategies, parenting skills and financial support.
- ◆ Children's Mental Health - how to deliver services that establish and restore a sense of self, rooted in culture and traditional practices to improve health and wellness.
- ◆ Tree of Life - experiential art program for participants with the goal to develop and cultivate healthy communications, relationships and emotional intelligence in youth
- ◆ Jordan's Principle - learning a process to address barriers and challenges to ensure that families' complex needs are met under this principle
- ◆ Improving Social Determinants of Health in our CIC's - a look at the Society's journey in planning and implementing experiential activities and trips to create positive childhood memories as a the foundation of wellness
- ◆ Aligning spirit and Intent - Utilizing Teaching of the Good Mind in Child Welfare - understanding the concept of the Haudenosaunee Good Mind as a trauma informed care approach
- ◆ Bimaadiziwin Miikan (Life Path) - through employing a culturally- inclusive lens and foundation, Bimaadiziwin Miikan, provides a framework to track the individual process of service users through the development, implementation and evaluation of the various life stages of an established individualized service plan

Please join us for a one of a kind interactive, informative and culturally based conference that will reach the homes and hearts of Our Children Our Bundle. To register please visit www.kunuwanimano.com and follow the registration link.

Stay tuned to our website for the draft agenda and more exciting updates coming soon!